10:30 – 10:40 Industry Presentation: Efficiently Scale patient management in HaH with LOLA, the voice conversational AI clinical assistant

Jorge Riquelme, Business Developer Manager at Tucuvi, Spain

Hospital at Home units are increasing their capacity as hospital early discharge, home monitoring, outpatient surgery and many other health conditions are switching from healthcare facilities to home care. HaH units need tools to scale patient information collection and care prioritization, and to reduce HCPs daily workload manually following up patients. To face these challenges, Tucuvi empowers HaH units to deliver the highest quality of care by combining the most advanced clinically-validated voice conversational technology with low-tech user experience, while easing HCPs daily workload.
